

Creative Technologies

Is an interdisciplinary program that is unique in the province. It is an emerging area of study that brings together artists, scientists, and cultural theorists. It includes a variety of courses from the areas of fine arts, computer science, engineering, and new media, with additional theoretical material drawn from media and communications studies.

Film

Offers a well-rounded, broad-based program that prepares students to map their own paths as artists, critics, historians and/or develop successful careers within the film industry. Students are exposed to an extremely wide range of learning experiences within a supportive and collaborative learning environment. Our faculty includes award-winning filmmakers who are dedicated teachers focused on developing the next generation of great artists.

Music

Provides students with the opportunity to develop their artistic expression through the mediums of vocal, instrumental and electronic music, along with an understanding of the role of music in culture. We offer a stimulating environment that integrates performing and creative musical activities with a theoretical and critical approach to musical studies. Students benefit from a small student/teacher ratio as they develop their musical knowledge, skills and abilities.

Theatre

Offers programs that blend practical training with the study of theatre history and theory designed to suit a variety of interests and career paths. Students enjoy small classes, high student-teacher contact time, and hands-on training in some of the most modern theatre facilities in Canada. Each year we present a full season of plays, to provide students with plenty of opportunities for professional training. As students collaborate in the creation of theatre events, they put course work into practice, develop their individual skills, and learn to

Visual Arts

Our programs integrate the benefits of a liberal arts education within a program of artistic growth that provides students with finely honed critical and analytical abilities along with their development as a practicing artist. Students may focus on sculpture, ceramics, painting, drawing, print media, photography, art history, cultures of display, or any number of fascinating expressive media. Or they can choose to practice across traditional mediums.

...And many more programs

For a more in depth look at these programs (and many more) email:

media.art.peformance@uregina.ca